Why Urologists & Patients Choose HIFU

- HIFU (high intensity focused ultrasound) has similar rates of efficacy as other treatment options for prostate disease, such as surgery and radiation, with a lower risk of erectile dysfunction and incontinence.
- Men usually return to their normal lifestyle within a few days and the procedure can be repeated if necessary.
- It may be used as a salvage treatment option when a person had already undergone radiation, cryotherapy or surgery and disease has returned.
- HIFU does not preclude other treatment options.
